

Paul Gossman

☎ (313) 720 1892 • ✉ contact@paulgossman.com • in paul-gossman

Reddit
San Francisco, CA

October 22, 2017

If you could add any feature to Reddit, what would you add and why?

I would definitely add a download feature for our saved and upvoted posts. I love going back through my old upvoted posts to rediscover all of the gifs I laughed so much at, useful LPTs I had forgotten about, and lists of books I said I would read (but never did).

The problem is that after several months, most images have dead links, and many self posts were deleted or overwritten with a script. My download feature would supply the user with a list of all links to images and gifs they upvoted, which we could run through cURL to save; self posts could be downloaded as a zip of html files.

With this feature, we would be able to browse back through years of content that we have personally filtered with our upvotes. It would be great. Productivity would surely plummet.

If you were a super villain that could only cause minor inconveniences to people, what would be your superpower?

You remember all the times you wore socks and didn't see that small pool of water you stepped in? Yeah, I put those there.